ASSET PROTECTION

GPS technologies are ubiquitous to our lives and security is no exception.

We prototype and develop bespoke GPS trackers for limitless applications.

From bank robberies to law enforcement investigations, we can deliver a solution to recover assets, catch criminals or even just give peace of mind.

Trackers are the best solution to protect your most important assets as you will know exactly where they are, and if stolen, they can be recovered.

Each of our assignments is meticulously planned to include intelligence, threat-assessments and operational consultancy and we will liaise with local authorities and law enforcement agencies when necessary or useful. We will supply information obtained from the deployment of a tracker by means of regular reports which can be presented by our professional witnesses as evidence for prosecution in court should it be required. We gather data from the trackers in a way to reflect the required NIM and RIPA standards, maintaining a thorough audit trail.
