DIPLOMATIC SECURITY

Diplomatic staff face an ever-increasing number of risks to their safety. Embassies are frequently targeted by a range of threat groups linked with public protest and civil disturbance.

Arslan provides personal protection for royal families, and the diplomatic and government community.

We also provide prestige residential security for embassies, high commissions, royal and official residences. We specialise in the safety and security of corporate executives and high net worth individuals.

With truly international reach and upmost discretion, we offer pragmatic security advice and accredited personal safety training to overseas ambassadors, NGOs and executives considered to be under threat in high risk locations.

With the ever-present threat of terrorist activity and disruptions by activists, it is vital to take preventative measures to ensure the security of your premises and your people.

Arslan delivers an exceptional and professional approach to both operations and training.

Our reputation has enabled us to become a leading provider of specialised international security as well as support services worldwide.
