

SURVEILLANCE AND INVESTIGATIONS

ARSLAN

In the current economic climate, the need for corporations and individuals to protect themselves and their brands has never been so important.

From disgruntled employees to organised crime, shrinkage to corporate espionage, our Surveillance and Investigations division consistently delivers results by drawing on many years of combined military and commercial experience.

OUR BENEFITS

- Reduction of stock loss and shrinkage
- Identification and eradication of collusion, fraud and industrial espionage
- Evidence gathering leading to successful prosecutions
- Absolute objectivity and confidentiality
- Fully RIPA compliant

Many of our clients approach us knowing there are losses or breaches occurring in their organisation. We help to identify the cause and see the results through to conclusion.

SURVEILLANCE AND INVESTIGATIONS

We provide both covert and overt surveillance to gather intelligence to establish the causes of fraud/loss/shrinkage and to identify suspects.

We work with the police to initiate and support criminal investigations where appropriate.

All our actions and activities are RIPA compliant.

We offer a range of services including protecting boardrooms from electronic listening devices by conducting technical surveillance counter measures (TSCM).

‘We also provide operatives who can be placed at any level, from shop floor to senior management.

Every one of our assignments is unique and is tailored to suit the objectives of each client.

We provide the support to identify the cause of losses and see the results through to conclusion. This may involve liaising with the police forces and providing evidence at court.
